Ministry Highlights 2025–2026

Different Ministries. One Mission.

For 25 years, the needs of our community have continued to change—and so have the ways we serve. Some people first walk through our doors for an interest class. Others come because they are facing legal, emotional, or family challenges. Still others find someone to walk alongside them through illness or a turning point in life. These encounters may look very different, but they are rooted in the same mission: Bring the Church to People, Bring People Back to the Church.

We know that someone who is not yet ready to walk into a church may still be willing to enter a community space where they feel safe and welcome. When people know they are accepted, heard, and cared for, something begins to change. Relationships grow, and seeds of the Gospel can begin to take root. Over the past year, CCM Vancouver Centre served the community through nearly 39,000 service encounters. The stories that follow offer glimpses of God's work in our everyday ministry. Through different ministries and encounters, we have been privileged to leave small footprints in the lives of fellow believers and new friends. We hope that, through these stories, you too will see God at work and experience His boundless love.

Centre Programs

Over the past year, our men's groups, table tennis, FUN Club, and classes in art, English, fitness, singing, dance, and more have connected us with people of different ages and backgrounds. During the World Cup, our Burnaby office opened its doors for neighbours to watch the games together, welcoming many who had never visited us before. Spiritual activities like bible studies and weekday worship also continue to nurture believers in their faith. Looking ahead, we hope to build a stronger volunteer team, deepen partnerships with churches and community organizations, and make better use of our resources—so that every activity can become a starting point for caring, spiritual growth, and community connection."

Retirement Is Not the End

Many retirees come to CCM with a lifetime of experience—and over time, some move from participating to serving alongside us. In our men's ministry, volunteers not only help with regular gatherings but also plan activities and explore new ways to serve. Retirement may have changed their role in life, but here they are discovering a new place to use their experience and gifts to bless others.

Caring Ministry

Jesus said, "Don't be afraid; just believe." These words are more than reassurance—they are a call to everyone who follows Him. Through our Caring Ministry, we walk alongside people facing critical illness, seniors, individuals with brain injuries or Parkinson's, families of children with special needs, and families going through difficult seasons. Many of the needs we encounter cannot be resolved immediately. But God reminds us not to hold back because of what we lack. A visit, a phone call, a word of encouragement, a hug, or a prayer may seem small, yet it can become the beginning of God's comfort and transformation in someone's life.

Walking Alongside — Why Do You Keep Coming?

We once visited a seriously ill senior who lived alone. At first, he strongly resisted our visits, but we continued to care for him. After several visits, he asked, "I kept turning you away. Why do you still come and care about me?" He came to understand that it was the love of Jesus that kept bringing us back. He later passed away and left part of his estate to support the visitation ministry. His gesture deeply encouraged us—not because we serve for anything in return, but because God first loved us.

COMMUNITY INITIATIVES MINISTRY

Over the past year, programs such as our Guitar Program, Rebecca's Corner, Praise Dance, Men's Coffee House, the ESS Fair, First Aid, and Food Safe have continued to connect us with people of different ages and backgrounds. Again and again, we have seen that people are looking for more than programs. They are looking for meaningful relationships—a welcoming community where friendships can grow, trust can be built, and opportunities naturally arise to demonstrate Christian love and share the Gospel. As community needs continue to change, our focus in the coming year will be to strengthen what God has already entrusted to us: equipping co-workers and volunteers, reviewing existing programs, and improving collaboration between our Richmond and Burnaby Centres so these ministries can continue to grow in healthy and sustainable ways.

Walking Alongside — From Receiving Care to Caring for Others

Rebecca first came to CCM while facing illness and received care from our community. Years later, she returned in a different role—as the instructor of Rebecca's Corner. Today, her art class is more than a place to learn painting. It is a space where people can relax, recharge, build relationships, and find renewed energy for daily life. Someone who was once cared for is now using her own gifts to care for others—a beautiful picture of grace coming full circle.

LINKAGE COUNSELLING SERVICE

Through individual and family counselling, phone consultations, seminars, and workshops, we continue to walk alongside people facing emotional, marital, parenting, and relationship challenges. Many families from Hong Kong are carrying the pressures of adjusting to life in Canada while waiting for permanent residency, managing financial concerns, and supporting their children. Last year, 58 Hong Kong newcomers who had been in Canada for one to six years sought our help—32% of our clients. Children and youth are also facing growing emotional and family challenges. Despite limited resources, we remain committed to providing professional support and strengthening partnerships with churches. Looking ahead, we hope to expand support for youth mental health and parenting, strengthen our professional team, and continue walking alongside newcomer families.

A Day of Relief Amid Uncertainty

Earlier this year, our Lunar New Year gathering was especially designed for Hongkongers still living in Canada with temporary status—a chance to set aside their worries for a while and simply celebrate together. Participants told us they left feeling lighter and renewed. Sometimes, amid prolonged uncertainty, having someone walk alongside you is itself a form of support.

Family Ministry

Over the past year, we have continued walking alongside families through different seasons of life—from newly arrived Hong Kong families and parenting programs to children's camps, youth camps, and Scouts. Our children's camps continue to connect us with many families, while our Scouts program has grown steadily. This year, we also took our first step into intercultural ministry with refugee families at New Hope in Surrey. We realized that much of our past ministry connected with just one person in a family. Our next step is to reach the whole family—strengthening family and parenting support, engaging more fathers and youth, developing young volunteers, and partnering with churches so that families can find both companions for the journey and a spiritual home.

Walking Alongside — From Participating to Serving Together

This year, 20 children joined 16th Richmond Scouts (CCM), most from families without a Christian background. As the group expanded, our volunteer team also grew from 3 to 11 members, with many parents choosing to get involved. Instead of simply dropping off and picking up their children, parents are now camping, hiking, and serving alongside them. What began as a children's program is gradually becoming a place where families grow together.

CCM Vancouver Legal Clinic

Looking back at the past year, it is both humbling and encouraging to see where God has taken the Legal Clinic. It has been a privilege to interact with and assist nearly 200 individuals, each facing their own unique legal challenges, and being entrusted to journey with them through a difficult part of their lives. We do not only focus on solving legal problems, and our conversations are not just a means to identify relevant facts, but opportunities to understand individuals' unique situations, including underlying relational or emotional needs. Our goal is to equip individuals with the legal knowledge and options to make informed choices. For individuals navigating unfamiliar and often stressful legal situations, this early support often makes a significant difference in their next steps. When appropriate, we also connect individuals to CCM's counselling and caring ministries, or pray for them at their request.

Looking ahead, we hope to strengthen our volunteer network, deepen partnerships with churches and community organizations, and continue equipping individuals with legal knowledges to navigate through challenges with confidence. We also pray that every person who we interact with would experience God's love through the way they are welcomed, listened to, and cared for.

I Feel Much More at Peace After Our Meeting.

Many of those we served shared that they left their meetings with greater clarity, reduced anxiety, and a renewed sense of hope. I also often remind those feeling stressed or losing sleep over lengthy litigation not to underestimate the value of peace and relief, which should be weighed against any potential gains from "getting even" through the legal system.
